

Ike Will Speak to Nation Tonight on Israeli Question

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower discussed the grave Middle East situation and the sanctions on Israel question with congressional leaders today.

And decided to go on the air tonight with a report to the American people.

The White House said time was being asked on all major TV and radio networks.

The hour was to be announced later.

A score of congressional leaders, both Democrats and Republicans, are expected to be present.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk, U. S. Ambassador to Israel, Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., and other officials are expected to be present.

The lawmakers came away from the meeting with some apparent differences of views as to just what conclusions could be drawn from the meeting.

One of the Democrats, Sen. Hiram Boren of Oklahoma, said his impression from hearing Eisenhower was that the administration is prepared to support the United Nations if the U. N. imposes economic sanctions on Israel.

The issue of sanctions has arisen because of Israel's refusal to withdraw its troops from the Gaza Strip and the Gulf of Aqaba area as demanded by the U. N.

But Sen. Knowland of California, the Republican leader, told reporters no decision about possible support of sanctions had been "finalized."

Secretary Dulles hurried out through a side entrance of the White House, reporters asked him, "Will the United States support sanctions against Israel?"

"I expect there will be something about that later on in the afternoon from the President," Dulles replied.

Ambassador Lodge said he expects Eisenhower to outline in tonight's broadcast a positive course of action for this country.

Lodge said there will be no U. S. request for delay in tomorrow's scheduled meeting of the U. N. General Assembly. He said the United States will be ready for action on the Israeli question at that time.

Would Leave Blue Low Up to Cities

LITTLE ROCK (UPA) bill to give cities and towns local control over the state blue laws was introduced yesterday in the Arkansas House.

The measure was written by Rep. Knox Nelson of Jefferson county.

It would allow the city council or board of managers of any city or incorporated town in Arkansas to have the authority, by ordinance, to regulate the operation of business on Sunday.

The bill contained an emergency clause.

Tax Measures Aimed at Border Cities Okayed

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Bills to lessen the favorable tax position enjoyed by two Arkansas border cities were passed by the House today.

The first measure would remove the exemption from the sales tax on wine, beer and liquor in Texarkana.

The second would, in the words of a sponsor, give Fort Smith "the privilege" of paying the same 3-cent sales tax as that which now applies in the remainder of the state.

Texarkana adjoins Bowie County, Texas, which has no sales tax, but which is legally dry.

Fort Smith is near Oklahoma, which has a 2-cent sales tax.

There was no debate on the Texarkana bill, which passed 74-4.

The Fort Smith bill, which passed 74-10, was opposed by the Sebastian delegation and by Rep. James A. Pomeroy of Union who said the measure would affect Junction City, which straddles the Arkansas-Louisiana line.

Both bills now go to the Senate. The House also passed measures to set up two departments of the Public Service Commission as separate agencies.

One would establish a 3-member Arkansas Commerce Commission to pass on transportation matters which are now handled by the PSC.

The second would establish an assessment, coordination department under a director who would supervise tax assessment duties now also under the PSC.

Still another bill passed and set to the Senate would permit employment of special deputy county tax assessors to assist in the re-assessment program.

Nat'l Engineer Week Being Observed

February 17-23 is National Engineer's week, the 7th annual observance under sponsorship of the National Society of Professional Engineers.

At Tuesday's Kiwanis meeting, "American Engineer," a 30-minute movie, was shown and the same film was shown at the high school at 10:30 a. m. Wednesday.

The film gives highlights of modern day engineering.

Radio Station KXAR will broadcast a program, "Engineering in the Atomic Era" and KCMC-TV will show a film, "To Enrich Mankind," connecting the relation of mechanical engineering to everyday living.

Engineering week is always the week of George Washington's birthday as the Father of Our Country was America's first engineer of note.

Egypt to Get UN Plan to Operate Canal

By TOM HOGE
UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld was expected to relay to Egypt today a four-nation plan for interim operation of the Suez Canal that would give Egypt at least half the tolls.

Authoritative sources said representatives of the United States, Britain, France and Norway presented the plan last night in a 30-minute meeting with Hammarskjöld. It reportedly hinged on these two main points:

1. Dividing the canal tolls with Egypt on a 50-50 basis once the waterway is opening to shipping. Tolls would be paid to the World Bank or to the U. N. itself. Half the money then would be credited to Egypt and the other half held until a final canal settlement is reached.

2. The second would establish an assessment, coordination department under a director who would supervise tax assessment duties now also under the PSC.

Still another bill passed and set to the Senate would permit employment of special deputy county tax assessors to assist in the re-assessment program.

Methodist Bishop Holt to Speak Here

Bishop Ivan Lee Holt, titular head of the Methodist Churches of the world, will be speaker at First Methodist Church in Hope, from Wednesday, February 27th, through Monday, March 4th, during the local churches observance of "Week of Dedication."

Bishop Holt has had an unusual experience in the ministry, not only because of his long service in the Methodist Church, but because of the many commissions he has received to represent his church. He has preached in all continents of the world, except Africa, and in 42 states.

Bishop Holt has been President of the Council of Bishops of the Methodist Church in the United States, and now as President of the World Methodist Council, he heads the Methodist Churches of the world, the only one ever to hold such a position in the larger church, the most influential in Methodism since the beginning of the movement.

Not only has Bishop Holt been at the head of Methodism, but he was the President of the Federal Council of Churches, becoming the leader of American Protestantism.

Bishop Holt is a native son of Arkansas. He was born in DeWitt, Arkansas, graduated from the Training School in Fordyce, Arkansas, took his A. B. degree from Vanderbilt University, and his Ph. D. from the University of Chicago, majoring in Semitic Languages. He has received honorary degrees from Central; Duke University; Victoria College in Toronto, Canada; Emory College, University of Arkansas; Syracuse; and Ohio Wesleyan.

Leaders in the local Methodist Church said today: "We are very fortunate to acquire Bishop Holt's services for our Week of Dedication. His services are very much in demand, Bishop Holt wanted to come back to Hope and to Arkansas, because of numerous friends that he has in this area."

Segregation Bills Get by Legislature

LITTLE ROCK (AP) The Arkansas Senate took a firm stand on the touchy racial question yesterday by approving four bills designed to prevent mixing of Negro and white pupils in public schools.

Although the Senate endorsed the measures by sizable majorities, the 3-hour discussion and debate was in sharp contrast to the swift handling of the measures in the House. The lower chamber had disposed of the 4-bill package without discussion and with only one dissenting vote.

The measures set up a state sovereignty commission to investigate persons or groups who deliberately threaten the state's sovereign powers and require organizations to register and make periodic reports. One bill states that a parent shall not be required to send his child to an integrated school and another provides legal aid for school districts involved in suits.

Gov. Orval Faubus gave his approval to the bills when they were introduced a week ago, but said that he is "cautious" and will carefully study each bill before signing it.

For a time, it looked like the Senate might also give swift approval to the measures without floor discussion. But a small group, led by Sens. Guy Jones of Conway, the three Little Rock senators — Ellis Fagan, Max Howell and Artie Gregory — and a few other argued against the bills on the ground that they were too broad and might be used against churches and civic organizations as well as organizations like the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Proponents, like Sens. Charles F. (Rip) Smith of West Memphis, replied that such was not the intent of the bills. They said that the bills would prevent or delay integration until a permanent solution could be found.

Yingling, an elderly digitized attorney, said that civil liberties were threatened. He called the proposed sovereignty commission a "glorified Gestapo."

Kiwanians to Stage Minstrel March 28-29

Hope Kiwanis club will stage its 14th annual minstrel show the nights of March 28 and 29 in the Hope High School auditorium, proceeds to be used in financing the youth program in this city. It was announced by Eddie Whitman at Tuesday's luncheon meeting of the club.

Much of the script will be written by a special committee of the Kiwanians, who will also direct the show. The show annually has attracted large crowds, and an excellent show is planned for this year.

For his outstanding work in Boy Scout activities, Mike Snyder was awarded the honor of "Kiwanian of the Week" at Tuesday's meeting. The award was presented by Frank Douglas, chairman of the Public and Business Affairs Committee.

Club membership viewed a tee-hut-colored film depicting the parade of progress over the years through efforts and know-how of American engineering. George Byrd of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service of Hope presented the film.

Guests included: Jack Moran, Royce Weisenberger, Jr. Orville Brannon and Bill Tooley, key-club members of Hope High School.

Nursing Course Begins April 1 at Texarkana

A training program for licensed vocational nurses — also known as practical nurses — will begin April 1 at Texarkana Junior College, with the support of hospitals and doctors throughout southwest Arkansas.

There is a tremendous shortage of nurses, and the college announced that it is beginning the new course not necessarily to stimulate enrollment but to extend a vitally needed service to the hospitals and homes of the area.

Applicants accepted by the college will be given a one-year course, beginning with four months of pre-clinical study and ending with eight months of clinical experience in hospitals.

Interested persons may obtain details from C. W. Wilson, administrator of Hempstead Memorial Hospital, or Dr. J. W. Branch, both of Hope; or they may write:

The City Council last night struggled several hours over the sewage tax or maintenance fee before voting the measure . . . and from long observance its the opinion of the Star's council reporter that every member voted on the measure reluctantly even after giving it many hours of conscientious thought . . . certainly no other council in recent history ever had such a problem with money pouring in from the municipal water and light plant . . . if the city is to keep the plant, such a course as taken last night was necessary . . . this is not speculation on whether the increase is right or wrong but a defense of the study, work and consideration the group gave to the matter . . . so before jumping down your councilman's throat think about what you might have done if you were in his place . . . and remember he'll have to pay the increase too.

Hope City Council last night approved a sewage tax, or maintenance fee, fixed a set fee for new connections onto a city sewer line and called a meeting of persons interested in the future care and operation of Rose Hill Cemetery.

The group unanimously okayed the sewage tax motion to have an ordinance drawn up providing for the assessment. The ordinance will be passed at the next meeting.

An estimated $8,000 to $10,000 a year would be raised according to the Council's finance committee whose entire recommendation was approved. This is how the tax will be fixed:

Tax System
Water bills for the months of November, December and January will be averaged and the tax will be 25 per cent. In other words if your average water bill for the three months was $1.00, your tax would be 25 cents per month; if it was $2.00, the tax would be 50 cents per month. The tax only applies to houses with sewer connections. The effective date could be April 1, providing it can be set up by then.

The amount raised would not cover the sum provided in the city's adopted budget. To offset this the committee gained approval of a recommendation to cut personnel by three. Two department workers are soon to retire, leaving only one man to be cut off. The group figures this action would allow the city to stay within its budget.

It was made plain by the Council that no further tax increase is expected at least this year.

Fixed Tax-In Fee
Still looking into the financial picture the Council voted to fix a flat fee of $50 for any new connection onto a city sewer line, effective as soon as an existing ordinance can be amended.

In other action the group voted to automatically retire any city employee at the age of 63 years, but amended it to consider a returned part time plan.

Cemetery Association
With the money problem still in view the group called a meeting of all persons interested in Rose Hill Cemetery for 8 p. m., Tuesday, February 26 at Hope City Hall. The purpose of the meeting is to reactivate the Cemetery Association with the group taking over operation and maintenance of the Cemetery.

Last year the Cemetery cost the City over $4,000 of taxpayers' money. Councilmen figure that since the city's finances have been drastically cut, it can no longer continue the operation. It is the plan of the council to continue at least part payment for operation of the cemetery but only until the reactivated Association can function on its own.

No action was taken on a proposal to purchase a street sweeping machine which, according to its sponsors, would eliminate two workmen in that department.

The group then voted to accept the resignation of Willis A. Cobb as caretaker at Fair park and hired a Mr. Irving as his replacement.

DOROTHY DIX

She Was Free With Love; Now Boy Has His Doubts

Dear Dorothy Dix: I've known the girl I'm in love with for a year. Right from the first date she was very free with her love; a little too free, I thought. For the past three months we've been intimate. She's a wonderful girl, kind, sweet, understanding, and we've never had the slightest quarrel. I'm the first man she ever loved. We are planning to be married, but I keep wondering, why was she so free with her love for me?

Should I continue with my plans or drop her and look for the virtuous-type girl that my folks expect me to marry? Of course, my girl appears to be such a type, to everyone but me.

Bewitched and Bewildered
Dear B. and B.: The deciding factor seems to be your own state of mind. According to your letter, you are the only man she ever loved, and you conquered her heart at first sight. She didn't believe in restrained love, and was completely carried away in her ardor. Those seem to be the facts, and if you can accept them without reservations, yours can be a happy marriage.

However, if you think her past conduct will lead to future suspicions, jealousy or a feeling that you married unworthily, better end everything at once.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I have been dating a soldier for the past six months and we had planned to be married this spring. But now he is out of service and back with his folks, and they are against the marriage.

I'm a widow with a 6-year-old daughter and am four years older than my beau. He's 22, I'm 26. He doesn't want to hurt his family but he wants me, too. He wants me to transfer to his home town, so I could get to know his people. If I do, would they accept me, or would I make the situation worse?

Libby
Dear Libby: Since you lose nothing by the transfer, you might give it a try. However, unless your friend is very mature for his age, I agree with the family that he's acquiring quite a bit of responsibility. The reaction of his folks is, of course, something no one can foresee. They might be understanding enough to accept the situation, or they might be stubborn enough to stall everything. Go and see.

Dear Dorothy Dix: When I was only in sixth grade, I developed a crush on Anthony, who then two grades ahead of me, I've adored him ever since, and only now, in my sophomore year, does he condescend to notice me. I've dated other boys, of course, and one of them has asked me to go steady. Would it be fair to accept, knowing my heart belongs to Anthony, who is friendly but I'm sure will never be anything else?

Dear Dorothy Dix: Tell the boy you don't want to go steady but you would like to keep his friendship. Who knows, Anthony's "Condescension" may turn into interest.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I'm a professional woman, 45, widowed, and considered attractive. For the past three years I've been friendly with a beecher slightly older than I. He described himself as not the marrying kind so, although we were exceptionally well suited to each other, I did not expect marriage.

Recently, however, I told him our relationship was too one-sided. He retaliated by saying I wasn't the good old pal I had been, and left.

How Many Hours Day Do You Watch TV

By CHARLES MERCE G
NEW YORK (AP)—How many hours a day do you watch television?

Most people confess they have not the vaguest idea. Merle S. Jones, President of CBS television, told the Minneapolis Advertising Club: "Last year, for example, the set in the average television home was turned on for an average of five hours per day throughout the

I'm not very inductive. I don't mean to be unsocial; it's my way. How can I improve?

JUNE
Dear June: The other workers might make allowances for the fact that you're new in the business world. They should cooperate instead of criticize.

If someone else asks a question, or makes an observation, answer in such a way that further comment is invited. Don't make your response a definite yes or no. Try, "Yes, but what do you think?" Avoid conversation-stoppers like the plague.

Dear Dorothy Dix: Before I married my husband, five years ago, I loved another man. However, my husband had more money, so I chose him. Now I am attracted to a married man who has been very understanding about listening to my troubles. I feel sure he loves me and would make me happier than I am. Do you think I can find happiness with him and can trust him to be faithful to me?

DISILLUSIONED
Dear Disillusioned: Your only problems, my dear, are the outgrowth of a small mind and an even smaller heart. You have two degrading appetites to satisfy: greed and vanity.

Fidelity and love can mean nothing to you—you have no conception of their significance. I advise you to discover your soul and do something about it before it's too late.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I'm working at my first job, in a very nice office. The other employees think entire year. As our research department keeps reminding me, that is more time than America spends doing anything else except working and sleeping."

Does the figure sound incredible?

Well, CBS obtained it by computing the average viewing hours over a year's period as recorded by the A. C. Nielsen Co., the audience rating agency. And Nielsen says it clocked viewing hours in "well over 800 television homes" on this basis said the company. On this basis, said a spokesman, it is possible to project viewing activities in 39,300,000 TV homes.

Those who maintain this is too small a basis for such a big generalization must pause momentarily, however. Can you cite statistics in a large number of homes than the Nielsen Co.? No, you cannot. You are simply left, like this department, with a vague mistrust that 39,300,000 home television sets are turned on five hours a day every day of the year.

With a mild blush in the light of the Nielsen figures we offer a private poll of five viewers, modestly excluding ourselves. All of the five viewers polled said, first of all, that they had no idea how many hours a day the home set was turned on, then admitted it was on five hours daily, and denied that this was true. Only one admitted it was possible.

"I think it's quite possible," he said. "It could be for an hour in the morning or afternoon. Then the kids would be watching it for a couple of hours from about five to seven in the evening. And it could easily average two hours of viewing in the evening."

Then he added that it didn't happen at his house—at least he didn't think it happened at his house. The point we'd like to make is that there can be no all-embracing and positive conclusions about the viewing habits of the great television audience.

When you hear some of the sweeping conclusions of viewing habits made by the industry, there is a simple way to test them. Just ask yourself: "Is this true of me?"

Pastrano, Holman Battle Tonight

LOUISVILLE, Ky. W. Fourth-ranked heavyweight Willie Pastrano pits his lightning fists and agility against the sledge-hammer punch of eighth-ranked Johnny Holman in a nationally televised 10-round match tonight.

Pastrano, sporting a 45-4-4 record, and reckoned for a title shot in a year or so, is the 8-11 favorite.
Holman, fighting to remain a long-shot title contender, lists a 30-13-1 record but his wins came against worthier opponents over a longer pull and include 18 knockouts against Pastrano's eight.

The six-foot, 188-pound Pastrano, of New Orleans and Miami, is short on height and weight against his 6-3, 200-pound opponent but long on speed and at 21, eight years the younger.

Holman, of Chicago, fighting to remain in title contention, figures
"Win or lose, I plan to keep fighting." His big knockout record came over ex-champion Ezzard
Charles in 1955, but a rematch match went to Charles by a decision.

Yanks, Athletics in Big Swap

BOSTON W. -The Boston Red Sox, apparently outbid by the New York Yankees for Kansas City pitcher Art Ditmar and Bobby Shantz, still may try and swing a deal with the Athletics. Speculation arose today that the Red Sox may attempt a trade to fill a shortstop from Kansas City to fill a big hole in the Boston lineup.

The 13-player deal with the Yankees yesterday gives Kansas City two shortstops-Joe De Maestri and Billy Hunter. Both are veterans and either probably would win a steady job in Boston.

The Red Sox lost Don Buddin to the Army and hope to convert young Billy Consolo, a second baseman, into a shortstop. They have only Billy Klaus to take over if Consolo fails to fill the bill. And Manager Mike Higgins thinks that Klaus has too many limitations at short.

Tournaments Start in 4 Divisions

By The Associated Press
Four Arkansas basketball tournaments for youngsters kick off today.

At Hope, the same teams that dominated last year's play could be the ones to beat in the state Class A girls tournament. Nine of the 16 entries are repeaters from last year.

Both of the finalists, Emerson and Ashdown, are back as well as semifinalist Alma, also Van Buren, Green Forest and England, which bowed out in the quarter-finals last year.

At Harrisburg, where the Class B junior boys contest starts, there is neither a favorite nor defending champion. Bismarck and Parkin are the only two schools back from the 1956 tourney.

The titlist, Yellville, an drummer-up, Dyess, flunked district tests this year.

At Jonesboro, Annie Camp Junior High School of Jonesboro will try to keep the Class A junior boys' championship in District 1. Ashdownville which won the state tourney last year, will not return this time.

At Greenbrier, defending champion Greenbrier apparently faces some tough competition in the Class B girls tournament. Five of the 16 teams enter the tournament undefeated.

Casey Can Always Use Some Hurlers

NEW YORK W. - Casey Stengel, the master manager who says "I've never seen a man yet who couldn't use a pitcher," today can add Art Ditmar and Bobby Shantz to a staff, he already had figured deep enough to bring his New York Yankees still another American League pennant.

Ditmar, a 27-year-old right-hander, and Shantz, a stubby, 31-year-old southpaw, were the key men for the Yankees in a 13-player trade with the Kansas City Athletics yesterday.

The Yankees also received infielder Wayne Belardi, southpaw pitcher Jack McMahon and two players yet to be named. At least one of the "unknowns" is expected for the Yankees' Denver farm in the American Association along with Belardi and McMahon.

In return, New York shipped outfielder Irv Noren, shortstop Billy Hunter and second baseman Mill Gaff and pitchers Maury McDermott, Tom Morgan and Rip Coleman to the A's, who also will be assigned another player by April 15. The three pitchers were second-line relievers in Stengel's book.

110 Make New Football Hall of Fame

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J. W. - The relatively new National Football Hall of Fame had 110 former players and officials representing 37 colleges on its membership list today after the addition of eleven new names by its Honors Court.

Among the team-full of onetime gridiron talent announced by the selectors yesterday is movie cowboy Johnny Mack Brown, who starred as a hallback in Alabama's 20-19 Rose Bowl victory over Washington in 1929.

Others added to the hall, located on the Rutgers University campus here, were Ken Strong of New York University, George Flen of Cornell, Trny Pieckert of Southern California, the late Marshall Newell of Harvard, the late Hunter Carpenter of Virginia Tech, Peter Maubie of Penn State, Ira Buck Rodgers of West Virginia, William Corbus of Stanford, J. A. C. Weller of Princeton, and Dick Wildung of Minnesota.

Elections to the hall began in 1951 on the basis of voting by the organization's membership, recommendations by coaches, athletic directors, fellow players and sports writers, and nominations to All-American teams. To be eligible, a player must have been graduated from his college for at least 10 years.

to further the athletic program in Hope.

Juniors Leave for State Meet at Jonesboro

Couch John Pledge will take 10 players and 2 student managers to the Class A State Junior Boys basketball tournament to be held in Jonesboro. Players are Terry Don Thurman, Tommy Jones, Bobby Erwin, Teddy Jones, Bobby Kidd, Byron Smiley, Wayne Camp, Eddie King, Larry Vaughn and Johnny Shell. Managers are Wayne Collins and Williams Pledge.

The Bobkittens left Hope at 1 p. m. today and will work out in the Bald Knob Gym tonight at 6 p. m. After the workout, they will go on to Newport to spend the night. Tomorrow morning, the team goes on into Jonesboro and will be staying at the Hotel Noble.

The Bobkittens will play Forrest City Thursday night at 7 p. m. Leachville, winners of the state last year over the Bobkittens in the finals, didn't make it this year. Other favorites are Jonesboro, Greenwood, Conway, Smackover and Newport. Other teams entered in the tournament are Warren, Tuckerman, Helena, Green Forest, Rector, Fordyce, Mena, Fayetteville, and Catholic High.

Rice Romps Over Arkansas by Big Score

By The Associated Press
Southern Methodist could be forgiven today for looking forward to the NCAA basketball playoffs.

The Mustangs forged a full two games ahead of Rice, its nearest rival and sole remaining challenger for the Southwest Conference title by knocking off lowly Texas A&M 71-55 at Dallas last night.

Rice used its superior height advantage and accuracy from the foul line to beat Arkansas 82-69 in Fayetteville.

Southern Methodist can sew up its third-straight conference title by beating Rice when the two teams meet in Houston Saturday night. A win would put SMU in the NCAA playoffs, probably against Kansas.

Bobby Mills scored 21 points and big Jim Krebs hit 20 as the Mustangs knocked over the cellar-dwelling Aggies who were playing without their leading scorer and captain, George Melhaffey. Melhaffey was left at home with a badly sprained ankle.

Arkansas, trailing early in the game, rallied several times only to have its spurts halted by a series of fouls. Rice used its opportunities well, getting 24 points on free shots. The Owls held a 40-26 margin at the half.

Temple Tucker led Rice scoring with 18 points. Fred Grim paced the Razorbacks with 23 points.

Texas hosts East Texas State tonight in a non-conference battle at Austin while Texas Christian and Baylor tangle at Fort Worth.

Baylor also has a Saturday date against Arkansas at Waco.

Woman Sought as an Heiress
SANTA ANA, Calif. W. - A woman last heard from 20 years ago is sought as an heiress to more than $100,000.

Mrs. Marjorie Mize Spencer, attorney handling probate of the estate of Lorin Adrian McCain, said the woman sought is a cousin who would inherit one-eighth of the estate, valued between $850,000 and a million dollars.

She was known as Roseman Story, was about 33 and lived in Paducah, Ky., when last heard from in 1937. She is believed to have gone to Wisconsin.

McCain died last Oct. 21 at 60. He was a citrus grower and had no children.

Arkansas, trailing early in the game, rallied several times only to have its spurts halted by a series of fouls. Rice used its opportunities well, getting 24 points on free shots. The Owls held a 40-26 margin at the half.

Plenty of Resolutions Are Offered

By JIM THOMAS
SAN FRANCISCO (AP) Resolutions prodding Congress to enact civil rights legislation at its present session, denouncing the Eisenhower-Dulles foreign policy and demanding quick statehood for both Hawaii and Alaska were announced as the final actions of national Democratic party leaders at their first West Coast meeting.

Democratic National Chairman Paul Butler said the meetings of the national committee, the new advisory council and other leaders were held here as a tribute to the West, which scored election gains that gave the Democratic party control of Congress.

The resolutions were adopted in closed sessions of the advisory council.

The civil rights resolution urged passage "during this first session of the 85th Congress of legislation embodying civil rights plans in the 1956 Democratic platform."

Specifically mentioned were elimination of discrimination on the right to vote and to engage in gainful occupations.

No mention was made in the resolution of the Supreme Court desegregation decision or of violence which has followed on some Southern states.

The platform referred to the decision and put the party direct in support of the high court.

Tanner Is Up, Coming Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The most successful author of the season is a "space-blaidded" debonair New Yorker of 35 named Edward Everett Tanner 11.

Never heard of him? He's better known as Patrick Dennis or Virginia Rowan. As such, he recently had three books on the best-seller list: "Auntie Mame," "The Loving Couple" and "Westward Ho!"

"Auntie Mame" is a Broadway smash with Rosalind Russell and has been bought by Warners for a movie. Frederick Brisson bought "The Loving Couple" for films and hauled Tanner out to do the screen play.

"I don't know a thing about pants" and "fades," said the urbane author. "They'll have to accept me as I am."

Here with his wife and his young son, Tanner remarked that he wasn't so sure it was nice to have three best sellers at once. Said he:

"The next time you come out with a book, people might say, 'Oh, him again: What on earth is he writing about now?'"

I asked him why he adopted the pseudonyms.

"Because I am one of those strange people who sincerely like privacy," he replied. "And until July 4, 1956, I was able to enjoy it." That was when a news magazine revealed his identity.

But doesn't it pay an author to be publicized?

"I don't think so," he said. "I used to be in the book business, and I don't think it means a thing. 'Oh I don't think it means a thing better than to get on Mary Margaret McBride's program and talk for half an hour about how great they are. They don't realize that the people who listen don't buy books. You don't get a single order out of it.'"

Greenhorns Find Trail Riding Tough

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — A bunch of greenhorns are learning the hard way what an old-time cowpuncher could have told them: trail riding is tough business.

Some 1,900 riders, mounted on sleek horses and outfitted with $50 hats, shiny boots and colorful neckerchiefs, left Brenham early Sunday on the annual 100-mile Salt Grass Trail Ride. The ride follows an old cattle-driving trail.

After a couple of days of mud, misery and biting cold with several hundred fell out and went home. The hats got dirty, the colorful clothes a jumble of bedraggled and the outfit started to look like a genuine Salt Grass Trail bunch.

Only 71 wagons pulled into the Paddock Ranch in north-west Harris County yesterday, compared with 86 which started.

Other authentic Old West type incidents included:

• Douglas Marshall, a vice president of the Houston Fat Stock Show, was kicked by a horse. He wasn't hurt seriously, however.

• J. D. Startwell, vice president of the Fort City Stockyards and assistant trail boss of the ride, was hospitalized at a hospital after his horse fell on him.

The riders are scheduled to reach Houston tonight. Tomorrow they'll take part in a parade opening the 24th annual Fat Stock Show.

U. S. Urged to Take Lead in Guarding Strip

By JAC KBELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont.) said today the United States "should take the lead" in seeking to place a United Nations emergency force on guard over the Gaza Strip and the Gulf of Aqaba.

Mansfield spoke out in an interview as efforts continued in Washington, the U. N. and Jerusalem to find some means of persuading Israel to withdraw her troops from those areas. Israel has tried vainly to get some form of advance guarantee against Egyptian attacks before pulling out her troops.

President Eisenhower cut short a Georgia vacation to fly back to Washington today. He summoned congressional leaders to a Wednesday morning conference at the White House on possible new moves to end the deadlock. He arranged to confer late today with Secretary of State Dulles.

Dulles was reported encouraging by an indicated easing of pressure for U. N. economic sanctions. He ordered consultations yesterday among his aides and the ministers of the British, French and Canadian embassies. It was understood they produced no new ideas, but went over existing proposals in various combinations.

Mansfield is a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and assistant Democratic leader. As such, he is one of the congressional leaders invited to tomorrow's White House meeting. Mansfield said that as an alternative to possible United Nations sanctions against Israel he believes the United States could win the necessary support to interpose the existing U. N. Emergency Force between possible belligerents.

"We should take the lead in seeing to it that the emergency force is kept in the Gaza and Gulf of Aqaba areas," he said. "As a second step we should take the lead in creating a permanent U. N. police force to patrol this and other troubled areas."

Are We Proud

If you haven't read the Hope Star for Monday, Feb. 18, hunt it up and read the first page account of McCaskill's winning first place in the southwest district competition in the Rural Community Improvement program.

The entire county should be proud of the little community which seems to have impressed the judges so favorably. State judges will be here on Feb. 28. The RCI contest is sponsored by three agencies:

The Agricultural Extension Service, the Arkansas Press Association and the Arkansas Power and Light company.

Rural improvement is a step forward in the right direction for Arkansas, and goes hand in hand with efforts to bring new industries and new people to the state.

By the way, did you know that such magazines as "Holiday" and "Fortune" are carrying distinctive colored ads entitled "This is Arkansas" and that Arkansas beauty queens were given a colored two-page spread in the "Saturday Evening Post" last fall? These beautiful girls were just about the best publicity we've seen

House Okays Own Retirement Bill

LITTLE ROCK (AP) The House today approved retirement pay for members of the Legislature with a minimum of 10 years service.

An amendment to a Senate bill for a general retirement system for state employees added this provision for legislators who have reached the age of 63.

Apparently the legislators would receive full legislative pay on retirement. The provision for 10 years service specifies that the service would not have to be continuous.

The amendment, which must

Safety Driver to Appear at Local Schools

A nationally known safe-driving program for high school students, featuring the personal appearance of Jimmy Daywalt, a famous race driver, will be presented at Hope High School on February 25, 1957.

The appearance of the Indianapolis Speedway veteran and safety lecturer is part of an educational highway safety program sponsored by the Champion Spark be concurred in by the Senate, says that retired members "shall be entitled to an annual retirement benefit equal to one-half the biennial salary payable at the time of retirement."

The retirement would not be compulsory.

The House passed without discussion and without a dissenting vote a Senate bill to establish a Water Conservation Commission and outline priority water rights in case of a shortage.

Also passed and sent to Gov. Orval Faubus was a Senate bill to require a birth certificate to be furnished for each child entering school.

Won't Try to Oust G&F Commissioner

LITTLE ROCK (AP) Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett says he won't seek action to oust Riley M. Donoho of Fort Smith from the Arkansas Game and Fish Commission.

Bennett announced this after receiving a letter from W. M. Moore, head Stuttgart attorney, who said he represented clients who thought the commissioner should be removed on grounds that Donoho's position should be filled by a resident of the 6th Congressional District.

Donoho lives in the 3rd District. The 6th District is represented by Dr. J. H. Burge of Lake Village, which is in the district, Bennett said. Dr. Burge was designated "a member at large" when he was appointed in 1953.

Donoho was appointed last year by Gov. Orval Faubus to succeed a former member from the 8th District whose term had expired. At that time, an associate of the governor said Dr. Burge's membership on the commission satisfied a constitutional requirement for 3rd District representation.

Bennett upheld this view in his opinion.

Plug Company of Toledo, Ohio, in support of the accident prevention campaign of the National Safety Council. The program has been arranged locally by J. B. Cook Auto Machine Co.

A veteran lecture team of famous race drivers has presented the safety program to a quarter of a million students in nearly half the 48 states. The program has the endorsement of educational, civic and law enforcement officials as an especially effective educational event for teen-age drivers.

Daywalt has completed a tour of North Central states and is on a three-month safety program in the South.

The crack race driver draws on his own track experiences to illustrate how situations on the race track can be compared to highway emergencies. He illustrates his talk with a film, addresses driver-training classes and, when requested, makes visual safety checks of student cars.

Mr. Daywalt will also present the safety program and tell of his track experiences, to the Hope Lions Club. This presentation will be made to the Lions Club during their regular noon meeting, Barlow Hotel, Feb. 25, 1957.
